

GREAT NECK PHYSICAL THERAPY PRACTICE ADDS NEW THERAPISTS

Reddy-Care Physical Therapy of Great Neck has added two new physical therapists to its staff. Allen Eshmoili and Yakov Simkhayev have joined the practice. The announcement was made recently by Vinod Somareddy (DPT), president and owner of Reddy-Care, a leading physical therapy practice specializing in manual therapy to treat musculoskeletal conditions.

“ We are pleased to have Allen and Yakov join Reddy-Care Physical Therapy as part of our continuing growth,” said Dr. Somareddy. “They are very capable therapists who will be a real asset to our practice and patients.”

Prior to joining Reddy-Care, Allen Eshmoili (PT, MPT, CSCS) has worked as a physical therapist and Center Coordinator at Advanced S.P.O.R.T.S. in New York. A cum laude graduate of SUNY Upstate Medical University with a Masters Degree in Physical Therapy, he is currently working toward certification in March as an orthopedic specialist.

Yakov Simkhayev (PT, DPT) previously worked at Franklin Hospital of the LIJ Health System, specializing in acute care. In addition, he has been associated with two orthopedic centers practicing sports medicine. Yakov graduated from Hunter College, and earned a Doctorate in Physical Therapy from Touro College in Bayshore.
